App Offers Information to Neb. Voters

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Nebraska voters can check their registration, request an early ballot and find polling place locations with a mobile website made available by the state.

The Nebraska Secretary of State's office says the "Voter View" website is available to voters during the buildup to the November 4th election. It's located at www.VoterCheck.necvr.ne.gov.

Users who access the website using a mobile device should be automatically redirected to the mobile-friendly page. If it doesn't redirect due to phone settings, users can still access the mobile site through the Voter View Mobile link at the bottom of the webpage.

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale says the page was created so voters can access information when a computer isn't immediately available.
