Auburn Council Discusses Erosion Issues

The Auburn City Council discussed a couple of problem areas in the community when they met Monday night. Mayor Scott Kudrna says one of the issues is erosion at the Auburn Recreational Complex. (play audio :28 seconds)

The Mayor says solutions to fix the problem carry a wide range of costs. (play audio :30 seconds)

The Mayor says the number of outside agencies that are involved in such an issue create quite a few issues when you want to correct a problem. (play audio :21 seconds)

Auburn Fire Chief Randy Bennett also updated the Council on bringing the city fire hydrants into compliance with the color coding standard of The National Fire Prevention Association.(play audio :30 seconds)

Mayor Kudrna said the construction on the library project is moving along and that a number of the Auburn Volunteer Firemen had just attended a training session in Grand Island.
