Falls City School Board to Hold Hearings on Policy Updates

The Falls City Board of Education has a fairly light agenda for its meeting Monday. The board will meet at 7:00 p.m. in the district's central office.

The board will consider approval of the second and final reading of several policy revisions. The board will set the per-student non-activity use rates for district buses and vans. The board will also amend the 2011-2012 project list.

The meeting will begin with a required annual public hearings on the policy revisions covering No Child Left Behind policies, parental involvement, student fees, nutrition and wellness, expenses and reimbursements, bullying, Internet access, and early separation.
