

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=24554>

Jury Trial Set for Horton Man in Child Abuse Case

(KNZA)--An August 13th jury trial has been set for a Horton man charged in a child abuse case.

27-year-old Matthew Adams recently pleaded not guilty in Brown County District Court to charges of aggravated battery and felony child abuse.

Adams is accused of shaking a child born last year, causing great bodily harm to the child.

He was arrested in January following a joint investigation by the Horton Police Department and Brown County Sheriff's Department.

Adams remains in the Brown County Jail on 150-thousand dollars bond.

Many Signals Communications