

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=26197>

SE Nebraska Man Accused in Knife Threat

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) - A southeast Nebraska man has been accused of threatening another man with a knife.

The Beatrice Daily Sun reports 28-year-old Christopher Kuhlman of Fairbury is accused of demanding money from a man Thursday morning.

Kuhlman is accused of pulling out a silver folding knife when the man refused to give him money.

Kuhlman was arrested on suspicion of making terroristic threats, using a weapon to commit a felony and trespassing. He was taken to the Gage County Detention Center.

The newspaper reports Kuhlman's bond was set Friday at $15,000. His next court appearance is scheduled August 2nd.

MSC News