

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=32532>

Missouri and Wisconsin Reach Agreement on Conceal Carry Permits

(AP) - Missouri concealed weapons permit holders can now bring their guns with them to Wisconsin.

Attorney General Chris Koster announced the two states had reached a reciprocity agreement when it comes to concealed weapons.

He says a new law requiring permit holders to undergo national background check upon renewal paved the way for the agreement. The same legislation also changed Missouri's gun permit to not include a photo of the holder.

Thirty-six other states also honor Missouri's concealed weapons permits. Missouri recognizes gun permits from any state that issues them.

Associated Press