(KLZA)-- Richardson County Commissioners met with representatives of the Richardson County Agricultural Society Tuesday to discuss the recent financial review of the Ag Society conducted by the Nebraska State Auditor.

While there are no financial discrepancies, the audit raised concerns about the posting of agendas prior to the Ag Society Board meetings and about record keeping.

Commissioners requested the Ag Society make an effort to comply with the recommendations of the auditor. The Board indicated they would make continuous reports back to the County Board on their progress to correct the findings as they are completed.

In other business the Board approved entering into an agreement with Humboldt Shares Inc. a Nonprofit Corporation to provide funding from Richardson County in the amount of $5-thousand from August 1, 2019 through July 31, 2020.

Commissioners also approved submitting the 2020 Community -Based Juvenile Services Aid grant application to the Nebraska Crime Commission for a total of $72,220 that is shared by Richardson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Johnson counties.
