Attempt to buy sex leads to arrest

(KAIR)--An Atchison man is accused of attempted sex-related crimes, arrested in connection with an investigation that began last month.

According to a release from Atchison Police Chief Mike Wilson, 67-year-old Nathaniel Burnett was arrested Thursday "on [an Atchison County] District Court warrant" charging him with battery and attempted buying sexual relations.

In the release, Wilson says Burnett's apprehension came in connection to an Atchison Police Department Investigation on June 23. It was that night Burnett was stopped by Police and issued a notice to appear in court for driving while revoked, no license tag, and no proof of insurance. It's not immediately stated how that incident led to the investigation ending in Burnett's arrested.

Once he was in custody Thursday, Burnett was booked into the Atchison County Jail.
