Falls City Council approves bonds for street project

(KLZA)-- The Falls City Council approved a resolution for bond reimbursement financing for the 33rd Street Project. The street will run from Bill Schock Boulevard east to Lane Street.

The City expects the $825 thousand in bonds to pay for all or a portion of the project.

The contracts for the project have been drafted and pre-construction tasks have been performed, including land re-platting and Right-of-Way filing.

Construction on the new street is expected to begin yet this month.
