

Arrest follows Salvation Army theft

(KAIR)--An Atchison woman is arrested, accused of stealing a donation intended for the less fortunate in the Atchison community.

According to a release from Atchison Police Chief Mike Wilson, 39-year-old Pamela Bilderback was taken into custody Tuesday, arrested on charges including theft by deception, forgery, criminal use of a financial card, and unlawful computer acts.

Bilderback, a longtime volunteer at the Atchison Salvation Army, is accused of stealing a donation that had been intended for the agency.

Wilson, in the release, explains that the allegedly stolen donation “was made with gift cards which were used [allegedly by Bilderback] in transactions at an Atchison business on various dates in December 2022.”

Following her arrest on the charges, Bilderback was booked into the Atchison County Jail.

Many Signals Communication