Johnson County Central Board to conduct info meeting on bond proposal
(KLZA)-- A special meeting of the Johnson County Central Board of Education will be held Wednesday evening at 7 at the High School Gymnasium in Tecumseh.

The meeting will allow patrons to view plans for a new school facility and will provide information to voters important to consider for the July 11, school bond election.

Superintendent Jon Rother and representatives from Boyd Jones, the Construction Manager AT-Risk; the architectural firm of Clark-Enersen Partners and bond underwriter D.A. Davidson as well as JCC School Board members will be in attendance to present information and answer questions.

All residents of the Johnson County Central School District are encouraged to attend.
