

Johnson County traffic stop leads to prison sentence

(KLZA)--An Omaha woman has been sentenced to two years in prison by Johnson County District Court Judge Ricky Schreiner.

33-year-old Kari Bass was sentenced to two years for criminal possession of a financial transaction device and two years for criminal possession of a forged instrument. The sentences will be served concurrently and Bass will be given credit for time already served.

In August of last year Brass was arrested following a traffic stop by Johnson County deputies in Tecumseh.

Officers discovered more than $1,500 in counterfeit currency and 8 debit or credit cards.

Many Signals Communications