

Final Holton USD 336 supt. candidate interviewed

(KNZA)--The Holton School Board wrapped up interviews Friday with the four finalists vying to be the new USD 336 superintendent.

The final candidate interviewed by the board was Rhonda Frakes, current principal at Jeff West High School.

The other three finalists interviewed by the board this week were Patrick Graham, current principal at Santa Fe Trail High School; Dr. Ryan Most, director of virtual learning and special programs at Kansas City USD 550; and Trevor Ashcraft, current superintendent of Onaga USD 322.

Public meet-and-greet sessions were held for each candidate on the day of their interview.

The four finalists were selected from among ten applicants during a special board meeting on January 22.

Current Holton Superintendent Bob Davies announced last November he will retire at the end of the current school year.
